Crossroads Resolution Group LLC

SUMMARY OF SERVICES

- Alternative Dispute Resolution – mediation and arbitration
- Consulting in dispute resolution
- Workplace training in conflict resolution

I have practiced law for over 30 years, primarily dealing with real estate, business and financial transactions as well as estate and tax planning for wealthy families. With this experience, I am able to understand not only the business technicalities, but also the underlying emotions that are involved in every conflict situation. The Bible speaks to us about our hearts and about our assets and both need to come under the influence of biblical truth if we are to relate to each other as God intended. My experience on both sides of the table in numerous business and family settings enables me to be objective and help those deeply imbedded in conflict to find a resolution that not only makes business sense, but also restores and protects the most valuable asset involved: the hearts and relationships that need repair. I can help you gain clarity, understanding and eventual resolution to even the most complex disputes.

I provide consulting services to help you walk through a personal dispute or address a dispute threatening to destroy your business or your family. I also provide mediation and arbitration services when necessary to resolve a dispute, all with the goal of healing relationships and dealing with assets in a way that ultimately glorifies God. With the help of other team members, I can provide training for leaders on how to apply conflict resolution principles to minimize workplace conflicts, creating a culture of effective, healthy relationships in order to enhance business success and worker satisfaction.
